REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS

To the School Board and Citizens of Plainfield:

I am pleased to submit herewith my third annual report on the Plainfield Schools. This is the seventeenth in the series of such reports since the law for State Wide Supervision was enacted.

TEACHERS

The same corps of teachers which we have in the schools for the past two years is employed with the exception of one position, that held by Mr. Norman R. Young. The previous good work of our former teachers has been commented on heretofore and the same comments are still pertinent. Mr. Norman R. Young, who had previously taught for me two years in another district and who had in all four years of experience, was engaged for the grammar room. Mr. Young is regular and consistent in his school-room routine, which in the long run is the best for scholastic advancement.

HIGH SCHOOL FACILITIES

A great many people who have not studied into the school law have been perplexed about the rate of tuition which the district is obliged to pay. The State law requires that a district not maintaining a high school shall pay the tuition but with limitations. It will probably be clearer if the law is here quoted: "Any district not maintaining a high school or school of corresponding grade shall pay for the tuition of any child who with parents or guardian resides in said district or who as a resident of said district has attended its public or approved private schools not less than two years previous to entering high school and who attends an approved high school or academy in another district in this state, and the parent, guardian or custodian of such child shall notify the school board of the district in which he resides, of the high school or academy which he has determined to attend; provided that no district shall be liable, except under contract as provided in Section 21, for tuition of a child in any school, in excess of the average cost per child of instruction for the regularly employed teachers of that school or of all public high schools of the state and the costs of textbooks, supplies and apparatus during the school year preceding, and in senior high school work only."

To illustrate the latter part of the above law we may take for example Claremont High School. The cost for instruction, that is, teacher salaries, books and supplies is about $58 but the charge at Claremont High School for tuition is $100. Therefore the parent has to pay the difference of $42. The same is true of Lebanon High School except for the fact that the tuition rate is $75 with the average cost a little over $58. Districts are obliged to pay up to the average cost of all the high schools in the state which is in the vicinity of $75 provided the school which the pupil attends has an average cost of $75 or more. It would be my recommendation that the School District of Plainfield vote to pay up to and including the state average cost for instruction even if the high school or academy in which the pupil is enrolled has an instruction cost per pupil of less than $75. School boards in those districts maintaining high schools find themselves obliged to maintain heat and light and janitor service and innumerable other things which are not included in the state average cost.

This item, for the girls graduating from Plainfield grammar school, will need to be given serious consideration at this time for Kimball Union, the local secondary school, is heading toward a boys' school almost entirely. Its course of study is designed primarily for those boys who are going to continue their education beyond the high school course. A few of the Plainfield boys will necessarily want to avail themselves of the opportunities offered at Kimball Union

Academy. A great many others are best fitted, by natural talent and desire, for the practical arts courses which are offered in surrounding high schools. The community is obligated morally and can be by the vote of the district, obligated legally in part to furnish the children such opportunities as they desire and for which they are capable.

MINOR REPAIRS

In our previous reports much has been said of minor repairs at the various schools. During the past summer the East Plainfield School was painted, both inside and out. This has improved the appearance of this building very considerably. The Plainfield Plain building was painted inside for the first time since it has been built. This was rather an expensive piece of work inasmuch as the wallboard was rather difficult to cover. A first class appearing job has been done, nevertheless, and there are now there two very pleasant appearing rooms. The pump and water facilities of this building have finally been put in a good state of repair so that no difficulty has been experienced up to date.

The toilet facilities at the Meriden School are rather shameful but it is a problem which is difficult to solve as long as the school is situated where it is. The rock foundation does not allow any flush toilet facilities because of the impossibility of excavating. The desks in this school are of the old unadjustable type. I hope we can change a few of these from year to year to the modern adjustable desks.

The exterior of the Plainfield and Spencer School should be painted during the coming summer.

ENROLLMENT

The enrollment for the school year is slightly less than heretofore, but there is an increase in the enrollment of the Brook School, the total at the present moment being nineteen as against ten two years ago.

Attention is called to a school board regulation on the minimum age at which children may be enrolled. None of our neighboring districts, to my knowledge, have had such a regulation previous to September, 1935. In another place in this report a copy of the regulation as approved by the Commissioner will be found.

PRIZES AND AWARDS

Honorable H. E. Ward, former town representative to the General Court, as for previous years offered prizes for essays with New Hampshire as the central theme. The eighth grade pupils participate. The district was divided into two sections, the east and the west. The winners in the western section were:

Yvonne Bernard, 1st
Carleton Morse, 2nd
Priscilla Gibson, 3rd.

The winners in the eastern section were:

Rita Dion, 1st
Margaret Harlow, 2nd
Harold Woodward, 3rd

FINANCES

As the budget is prepared for next year it appears that the appropriation will be somewhat less than heretofore as we are able to increase the demands for State aid and as the high school cost per pupil in the last two years has gone down, we have been able to manage with a small assessment. The income for State aid last year was in the vicinity of $4200 and there is reason to expect that it will be more for the coming year. Transportation routes have increased somewhat in number. We have two transportation routes this year which convey a small number of children. The arrangement for transporting the seventh and eight grades from East Plainfield to the Meriden grammar school which was advantageous from the point of economy and educational opportunities offered both to those who went to the larger school and for the six grades remaining at East Plainfield met with such disfavor that it was discontinued. The budget as made up has taken into consideration the payment of the average cost per pupil for the state to those neighboring high schools which are accessible to the children of Plainfield.

CONCLUSION

On another page may be found the list of high school pupils in the various secondary schools and also a list of those children who graduated from the eighth grade last June.

I take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the cooperation of the teachers and pupils with whom I am working as well as the good will of the School Board and citizens.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM J. ENGLISH,

Superintendent of Schools.

February 5, 1936.

School Health Work Plainfield School District
January 1935—January 1936

The routine health inspection shows greater interest in health habits and personal hygiene among all pupils.

Forty-seven home visits were made by the school nurse to report and stimulate attention regarding handicapping physical conditions. The parents exhibited a genuine interest in the welfare of their children.

Ninety-five school visits were for health objectives during the year. All heads are examined at least once a year by the nurse for pediculae and nits.^o Printed instructions for cleaning the hair are given the children to take home.

Indications for this year are that dental clinics will have been attended by all pupils needing this service.
